CODE OF CONDUCT 2021

CODE OF CONDUCT

New York Stage and Film is a company dedicated to a flexible, artist-driven process. We believe in artistic freedom, artistic expression, and empowering artists to reach their fullest visions. We also believe that process can only be fostered in a creative space that is also a safe space.

We expect that all members of the community recognize that each individual has a right to a working environment that encourages considerate, dignified and non-sexualized working relationships. New York Stage and Film seeks to ensure that we maintain a welcoming space that fosters understanding and respect, and that all of the following Codes of Conduct are upheld and clearly communicated to everyone.

Included in this code are the following guidelines:
- NYSAF in Community
- Anti-Racism
- Anti-Sexual Harassment
- Anti-Harassment / Bullying
- Whistleblower & Anti-Relation
- Reporting procedures

We require that everyone reviews all of the following guidelines at the commencement of their contract and acknowledge in writing that they will abide by it. We require all projects to make time both during their first day of rehearsal and the first time the full company is on-site, for a meet and greet to review all policies for maintaining a healthy and safe community, and the framework to formally report issues regarding conduct or ethics with no fear of retaliation.

Please note: In any extremely urgent and/or life-threatening situation in the workplace or theatre, particularly with regard to serious violence, the most important and immediate concern is the safety and well-being of the affected person. If there is imminent danger to a person’s safety, police, fire department or paramedics should be called. While on the Marist Campus, please dial XXXX to reach Security. For additional non-police aid resources, please click here.

These documents are meant to be an evolving process. We welcome the continuous dialogues, self-examination and changes that will push this work forward. We acknowledge and are grateful for the extensive efforts and collaborations of our theater colleagues in the formation of these policies.

NYSAF in COMMUNITY: GUIDELINES

As each community has specific needs and concerns, the following are meant to provide an adaptable framework for healthy engagement while working together. Individuals are invited to provide feedback, add or alter, as further uplifts the goals of the community.

Platinum Rule - Treat others the way they want to be treated. And, where you don’t know what that is, listen in to find out or, simply, ask.

Respect for Each Individual - Recognize that every individual represents intersections of cultural identities and attitudes, traditions, and rights deserving of respect and protection. Acknowledge that there are a multiplicity of values and practices, and more than one way to think, communicate, engage, and problem-solve.

Be Curious, Open, and Respectful - Both with yourself and with others, it's important to cultivate this kind of suppleness / softness / gentleness.

Speak from Yourself - Speak from your truth. Speak from a place of “I”. Seek permission if you would like to share a story that is not yours.

We can't be articulate all the time - Give yourself and each other the benefit of the doubt, please don’t be afraid to make mistakes nor to ask questions. Others may be feeling what you are or asking similar questions. You might be holding the key that unlocks something vital.

Take responsibility for our conversations - When unsure, request permission to ask or discuss a particular topic and respect an individual’s right to say no.

Flag it - Be conscious of intent and impact - No matter your intention you are also responsible for your impact. If someone says something hurtful, anyone can bring attention to it in the moment by saying “I need to flag that.” When someone says something that comes out wrong or hurts someone else – they should pause, acknowledge the impact of their words, invite the person who “flagged” to explain, and then try again. NYSAF also has additional policies and resources to prevent, report, and address specific instances of harmful behavior. Please refer to policies (click here) and reporting procedures (click here).

Take care - Our community extends beyond the boundaries of the rehearsal room. Your overall well-being contributes to the general health of the community. As we work together, we will be mindful of supporting each other, advocating for healthy practice and give voice to needs as they arise so everyone can remain engaged with the company.
